scenes in the City During and After the Quake.

The whole country had a sensation last night in the shape of an earthquake. The shock was felt in Atlanta at five minutes past 10 o'clock, and appears to have been general throughout the city. The damage, as far as ascertained, is slight, but the strain on nerves was terrific. A slight nausea began to make itself in perhaps 50,000 stomachs a few minutes after the rumbling shock had passed. The commotion lasted perhaps five minutes.

This earthquake was freely predicted. Thearkin in Charleston on Friday and in Augusta on Saturday, led many to expect a similar shock here some time during Tuesday. Our dispatches indicate that this earthquake is general, and is not simply the tailing off of the Charleston-Augusta earthquake.

This Atlanta's second earthquake. There was a perceptible shock eleven years ago. It must have been at about the same hour as last night. The storm center of that earthquake, as far as Georgia was concerned, was Athens, and Athens was much worse shaken than Atlanta.

The Constitution reporters circulated through the city up to midnight and found groups of people still standing on the sidewalk. Larger numbers were still dressed awake and announced their determination of setting up all night. A vicious impression prevailed that the thing was coming again at midnight—probably started by the who always says, when a rattle snake killed, that its mate is sure to be in the neighborhood. The great majority of the people, however, put their faith in Providence and the 2,700 feet of solid granite that keeps Atlanta, and went to bed to sleep the rest of the just!

AT THE CITY.

the Strange Occurrence Felt in Atlanta.

The CONSTITUTION building has six floors and five stories above ground and sits on the highest points in the city.

Just before the shock last night the engine which runs the electric lighting machinery was working away busily in the basement, using the usual throbber jar, accompanied the tap-tap of the bell. In the business office on the sidewalk floor a night clerk said as he received the copy for an "ad." The elevator was running from the bottom up to the fourth floor sat the city editor sitting at his desk.

On the top floor, just one hundred steps from the ground, fifty blazing electric lights which can be seen for miles, lighted the night in the composing room and top floor several rooms.

Thirty-five or forty printers were busy making the CONSTITUTION of Wednesday. The next room sat the night editor, overlooking his proofs.

In the next room four reporters were grinding out copy.

At the next Georgia news editor was editing state specials.

Five minutes before nine there was a little tremor of the floor like unto the movement and a dog trotting across.

Quickly changed to a shaking such as a person produces in crossing a bridge. A second or more and the great structure quivered convulsively, and began rocking and swaying, the movement being from east to west to east. It seemed that the electric light chandeliers would fall, so terrible was the shock.

The structure above ground, and the building in an earth quake!

You cannot imagine the situation if you have never been there.

Every man in the building expected the well to fall to the ground within a minute. The reporter's desk turned half over. The boys ran toward the elevator. The printers fell merrily down the back stairs, the city editor sedately down the front stairs, on the third floor encountered Mr. Douglass of Dixie, who, somewhat paler than usual, exclaims:

"What's the matter?"

"Dunno," answered the newspaper man without stopping.

When the middle of the street was reached, what's the matter up there?" pointing up and the CONSTITUTION composing room, probably thought some one had dropped a space.

The elevator man remained at his post, and did not feel the shock at all, owing to constant motion of the elevator.

Add to the general confusion in the office, set darkness prevailed for a minute. The shock, feeling the shock, at first attributed something wrong about the machinery that down the engine, whereupon every light in the building went out, leaving entire in perfect darkness. The greatest alarm seized those in the top of the building.

When the earthquake was over, work in building was resumed. Telephone messages began to pour in from all quarters, and as fast as news was collected it was detailed to the anxious inquirers by the office boy, who was detailed to answer questions.

At the Capitol.

There is an impression in Atlanta and elsewhere that the capitol is an unsafe building.

Its experience last night ought to correct the impression.

When the quake occurred the old house of legislative quibbling, fuming, eloquence and bill passing shock from foundation to tower. The cranky clock in the tower sent forth a solitary exclamation in the shape of a toll from the bell. The dusty old law books in the state library quivered in chilly uncertainty, perhaps reminded of the uncertainty of the law and of the courts, excepting Judge Lynch's court. In the agricultural department was given to Walter DeWolf's last story about the progress and prosperity of his native village, Columbus. Nobody was in the office of the principal keeper of the penitentiary, but as examination disclosed that one of Colonel Shubert's latest South Carolina tales had been stopped off short by the ringing of a concealed chest bell. In the secretary of state's office the only things that suffered inconvenience were Major J. F. Jones's list slippers. They bounced up and down awhile, much to their mutual disgust. In the comptroller general's office the ghosts of the hard work done by General Hardeman and the children went across the street to Mr. A. B. Steele's, where they spent the night.

AT THE GRANT HOUSE.

The shock of the earthquake was felt so violently by the guests of Grant house that they gathered together in amazement and horror. Some with children in arms, other children screaming, some who had retired, partly dressed. It was a crowd of blanched faces that stared at each other with wild eyes, and strong men felt the effects for hours after.

FOR PRUDENTIAL REASONS.

Upstairs in the executive office there was a general rattling of things. Commute is reserved. It would never do to give to the public exactly what occurred in the neighborhood of the desks at which Judge H. E. W. Palmer, Major Warren, and Captain Harrison do their work.

There was one man in the capitol whose experience was decidedly unpleasant. Colonel John R. Towers, principal keeper of the penitentiary, has a sleeping room way up in the building—next to the skies. He told this story to a CONSTITUTION reporter about an hour after things resumed their normal state:

"I was fast asleep," he said, "when

THE SHOCK CAME

It almost threw me out of bed. I thought the building had collapsed, and hurriedly made for the door. Finding everything quiet, I dressed and left. I don't care to have such an unpleasant experience again."

Colonel Towers may have spent the remainder of the night in the capitol, but there are certain of his friends who believe that he spent it in a tent down on the ground floor.

The darkness of the night prevented a close examination of the walls of the capitol, but it is believed that they were badly cracked.

AT Mrs. W. H. Tuller's Residence.

Mrs. Francis H. Tuller resides at 68 Marietta street, immediately in rear of the capitol. Her residence is a brick house, supposed to be the oldest in the city. It is two stories high.

When the severest shock occurred, Mrs. Tuller thought that the vibrations of the house were caused by a heavily loaded train on the railroad at the Forsyth street crossing. Hearing her out to the sidewalk, she followed, although she fully retained her presence of mind. On the sidewalk it was decided that the vibrations of the house were caused by the

AT THE KIMBALL HOUSE.

The boarders at the Kimball house were badly frightened.

When the building began to tremble the inmates from the seventh story to the first wanted to get down and they wanted to go down badly.

There was a general rush for the elevator, but the most of the guests preferred the steps, and they made good time. The elevator men declared at eleven o'clock that a very few had come down, but the number of people who were seen standing in front of the building showed that they had either come down the elevator or jumped out of the windows. They were badly scared up, and their looks showed it.

THE SHOCK OF AN EARTHQUAKE.

"Look at the house," somebody exclaimed. The party of excited and frightened ladies and gentlemen turned their eyes toward the house and saw that one of the chimneys had disappeared and that another was badly damaged.

"Yes," said one, "it was an earthquake."

After a while the party returned to the house. An examination was made with considerable caution. On the side farthest from the capitol the front room is the parlor. The adjoining room is a bed chamber. In both of these floors for several feet from the fireplaces were covered with soot, plaster and bricks. The chimney was broken.

A collection had been taken up for Evan's chapel just before the earthquake. The stowards sought the sidewalk with dispatch.

After they had returned one of them said: "If we take up that collection again, brethren, I think we can double it."

AT THE GOLDEN RULE.

The Central Lodge of Odd Fellows was in session when the building began to tremble, and every member ran out into the street. The attendants of a wedding party were practicing, but when the shock came they rushed out onto the street and told about it to those present, in great confusion.

AT THE GOLDEN RULE.

The Central Lodge of Odd Fellows was in session throughout the city, no portion escaping except that section next to the railroads. The members were engaged in business for the church, but the shock was so severe that every member ran out into the street. The attendants of a wedding party were practicing, but when the shock came they rushed out onto the street and told about it to those present, in great confusion.

AT THE GOLDEN RULE.

The Knights of the Golden Rule were in session in their hall, corner Alabama and Broad street. The quake gave the house a rock and in an instant the entire membership appeared to understand that an earthquake was at hand. With a rush, push and shove that seemed to indicate that fraternal love had been forgotten, they made for the door and in quick order appeared in the street. The attendants of a wedding party were practicing, but when the shock came they rushed out onto the street and told about it to those present, in great confusion.

AT THE GOLDEN RULE.

The Red Men were holding a meeting at their lodge on Marietta street, and had several members to initiate. Just as they were in the most interesting part of their initiatory ceremony the shock came, and a lot of plastering fell from the ceiling. These sections of the city rolled and tossed about, it seemed to those present, in great confusion.

minutes to nine o'clock, and the shock's tremulous motion lasted just three minutes."

MR. THROWER'S EXPERIENCE.

Mr. J. G. Thrower and family live in the McConnell & James building, opposite Chamberlain's. This is perhaps the tallest building in the city, breadth considered. Mrs. Thrower is an invalid and in bed. She and her husband thought the house would certainly fall. Mr. Thrower was to her, and taking her in his arms, said: "I'm right here with you, and we will die together." When the tremor had passed, Mr. Thrower hurried down stairs, and when last seen was trying to get a hock to move his family. He said: "I wouldn't stay in that house tonight for a million dollars."

OUT OF PEACHTREE.

On further Peachtree street the shock was very violent. The occupants of the houses rushed to the sidewalk, and screams were heard, "The house is falling!" This was occupied with tremendous clattering and crashing noise, and it really sounded as if some house was falling. It was discovered, however, that it was a shower of slate falling from the roof of Mr. W. B. Lowe's residence. Some glass was smashed and a lot of slate broken. The chimney to the dining room was shaken down, and fell crushing into the dining room, producing considerable damage. Mr. Lowe was absent and Mrs. Lowe and the children went across the street to Mr. A. B. Steele's, where they spent the night.

THE DAY IN MACON.

NEWS NOTES OF INTEREST FROM THE CENTRAL CITY.

THE Two Other Liquor Courts, East Tennessee Excavations—Political Committees—Recorders' Court—Other News Items of Interest—Personal Gossip, Etc.

MACON, August 31.—[Special.]—This morning, Pete Harman and Mose Green, whose cases were continued from yesterday, were up in recorder's court for selling liquor on Sunday. Both pleaded not guilty, and then the case proceeded to trial.

Detective Shackford swore that he walked into Green's little restaurant, attached to his bar, on Fifth street, and asked for half a pint of whisky, and that Green slipped it out of a drawer and handed it to him, he returning twenty cents, all the change he had. He then sent Green's initials on the cork, labelled it and took it out of the hour and walked out.

Mose says that when he had been to the bar he had drunk the water there which gave him the cramp, and that he appeared to be suffering terribly, and the let him have it through sympathy, and that the man straightened up and walked out as good as anybody. Mose introduced several witnesses but their testimony proved of little consequence, and Mose was fined fifty dollars.

Pete Harman tried to prove an alibi, but unsuccessfully, and Mayor Price was confident of his guilt, and assessed him fifty dollars.

The master has caused a general stir among the whisky men.

Technological Committee.

MACON, August 31.—[Special.]—The following committees were appointed to canvass the various city wards and county districts in the interest of the Technological school, today in Hon. W. A. Huff's office:

First ward—Ben L. Jones, Dewitt McCrary, Ed. Isaac, John M. Walker, and Walter B. Green.

Second ward—E. J. Scofield, M. O'Hara, G. S. DeCarde, James Boone and J. G. Deitz.

Third ward—J. H. Hertz, W. W. Carnes, D. B. Jones, C. B. Willingham and R. W. Rogers.

Fourth ward—R. H. Brown, W. G. Solomon, S. Weichselbaum, H. Horne and T. D. Tinsley.

Godfrey's district—John B. Giles, W. H. Jenkins and James A. Dawson.

Hewitt's district—E. R. Price and C. W. Etter.

Hazard's district—J. J. Amazon, R. A. Nisbett and O. D. Edwards.

Warrior district—R. Burkett, F. Parker and W. L. Burgey.

Bastard district—Jerry Willis, P. M. Stubbs and Sam Holmes.

Recorder's Court.

MACON, August 31.—[Special.]—Alex Norris, who sat on the recorder's court on the charge of vagrancy, is certainly of the lowest order of intelligence, to be a sane man imaginable. His hairmings across his temples with the points of his eyebrows, and his forehead could be covered with a silver dollar. He is the one that gives Officer Holmes and Murphy such a chase Sunday morning. He was held for investigation.

T. W. Morgan seems to be very unfortunate. Every time he gets drunk he gets into the bushes, and every time he gets out of the bushes, he gets drunk, and it is perceptual motion with him. He was checked in for five days or five dollars today.

Several smaller cases were disposed of, and the malcontents marched in solemn file to their cells in the city prison.

Lost Her Pocketbook.

MACON, August 31.—[Special.]—Miss Blair has been in some trouble, and she is thought of starting back to New Haven in Savannah this evening. She boarded a boat last night and says she paid her fare and rode around to where she wished to stop. Getting off she missed her pocketbook containing twelve dollars and a half, and some smaller change. The driver had driven too far off to be overtaken, but she hailed the next car, and rode on to the superintendent's office. There she learned that the driver had got another man to drive him, and he had stopped at the station. Being the only occupant of the car, she expected to find her pocketbook in there, so she came on back and informed Officer A. Jones of the matter, and telegraphed for more money. Both drivers are good, reliable fellows, and are worried over the master, claiming that they never saw it.

East Tennessee Excavations.

MACON, August 31.—[Special.]—The excavations for the new East Tennessee depot progresses steadily forward. The delays on account of the big blasting being prohibited by the authorities, tended to delay the work somewhat. But the entire wall fronting the river, varying from ten to twenty feet in height, with enormous blue granite boulders resting on top, cost a distance of from fifteen to twenty-five feet. The earth has also been cut away thirty or forty feet. The earth is being hauled away to fill in the trough above the excavation, and a large distance of that depression has been thus filled in. Four carts and seven train cars are used in removing the debris. The large boulders are being broken up with hammer, drill and dynamite.

Lippman Falls.

MACON, August 31.—[Special.]—Lion Lippman of Montezuma, failed in business yesterday. He was one of the largest general store and supply merchants at that place. It is currently reported here that Maccon men will suffer to the tune of twenty thousand dollars. Some of Mecon's best merchants are losers by the failure.

Dublin and Western.

MACON, August 31.—[Special.]—It is very probable that the business of the Dublin and Western road will soon be arranged so as to make satisfactory settlements. Mr. Powers claims that there was some misunderstanding between President Linderman and the bondholders that will soon be arranged satisfactorily.

Personal Gossip.

MACON, August 31.—[Special.]—Hon. Samson Reese was in this town today, looking health and hearty.

Mrs. Even Subers of East Macon, returned from a long vacation in the mountains, arriving Mr. C. C. Keeler and Master Keeler, registered at the Brown house last evening.

City Clerk Blodell left for Atlanta on the 25th East Tennessee, and is to remain there a week, and states that his brother had been seriously hurt.

The Pistachio nut club at Mr. George F. Wing's residence, East Macon, was a very enjoyable organization during this summer.

The gymnasium reception given by the Young Men's Christian association at their rooms on First street, was enjoyed by quite a number of visitors this evening, and refreshments were served and partook of with a relish.

INCREASING IN VALUE.

Real Estate in Columbus Advanced Twenty-Six Per Cent.

COLUMBUS, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—While there has been no boom in real estate in this city, a steady increase in values has been noted. Within the past six months there has been a uniform increase of twenty-five per cent in values. This is the more significant from the fact that there is no agency at work to give the true value to property. The builders of real estate have been honest, generous buyers and sellers, and are not inclined for speculation. This is explained by the Enquirer-Sun, which says:

"But few of our people deal in real estate and they care but little outside their own transactions. As to the value of property, it is an open question. The manufacturers and warehouses of Columbus were never so bare of goods and prices are firm with an upward tendency."

The Doctor is Married.

CLAYTON, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—Dr. B. F. Smith, of this town, and his charming young bride left this morning, via Walhalla, S. C., to New York, on their bridal tour.

Wesley Pitchford started this morning to Walhalla, S. C. in company with two of his sons and two of his daughters, who have been with him for a few days, attending him to his distressed circumstances of sickness.

A TERRIBLE CRIME.

A Wife Outraged by Four Men in the Presence of Her Husband.

BUCHANAN, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—A most brutal outrage was committed near Tallapoosa. Mr. Wallace and his children were sick, and some of the neighbors were sitting up with them. Four men came up and threw stones through the windows, and shot through the door twice, frightening the meg through the door down and blew the light out. Three of them held Mrs. Wallace while the fourth outraged the wife in the presence of her sick husband and children. Each of the four men outraged her thus. One of the guilty parties has been arrested and put in jail. The sheriff was requested to put him in the cage, but he begged them not to put him in there with Norris, the murderer. Some one said: "Yes, put him in there, and put a hoe in the cage," as Norris was an expert in killing people with hoes. There is considerable excitement over the affair.

BREAKING THROUGH JAIL.

Seven Prisoner Escape From the Pulaski Jail.

HAWKINSVILLE, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—A jail delivery took place at 10 o'clock today. The prisoners, seven in number broke the jail and left. One was a white man charged with horse stealing, one a negro charged with murder; two negroes charged with rape and three charged with burglary. Having it is supposed, others outside, they procured a chisel with which they cut a hole through the iron door, then cut through the brick wall and got out. There is considerable excitement over the affair.

BEDRIDDEN 30 YEARS.

A QUEER STORY WHICH COMES FROM WILKES COUNTY.

A Strong and Healthy Man Stricken by Rheumatism, From Which He Has Been Confined to Bed for Thirty Years—How He Passes His Time—The Devotion of His Sister Sally.

WASHINGTON, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—On the Skill Shoals road, seven miles west of this place, is Bethel church. A mile or so beyond the church a disused road intersects the Skill Shoals road at right angles. One passing down this disused road a short distance comes in view of a little two-room cabin, nestled beneath two large oaks. Entering the cabin there is a man remarkable for the long suffering that he has endured. For more than thirty years Ben Hilliard has been a prisoner, chained within the narrow confines of his little room by the giant grip of rheumatism.

Thirty-six years ago Ben Hilliard was an industrious farmer, vigorously tilling the soil, and in his leisure hours hunting turkey and squirrels on the bottoms of Nettle creek, which runs adjacent to his home.

ATTACKED BY RHEUMATISM.

DECATUR, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—Last Saturday a primary election was held in this country, and two candidates for representatives to general assembly. The candidates were Mr. Geo. W. Johnson, railroad agent, Lithonia, Ga.; Mr. Charles Murphy Candier, attorney at law, Decatur, Ga., and Mr. Thomas J. Flake, a farmer of Panthersville district. The managers of the election met here yesterday and consolidated the returns and declared the result as follows: Johnson 80; Candier, 62; Flake, 52.

The Primary in DeKalb.

DETROIT, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—About this time, at the age of twenty-five, he had an attack of rheumatism. For the first three or four years he was able, by help of crutch and stick, to hobble about his farm. Then his malady grew worse, and he was forced to take his room and really his bed. He has spent hundreds of dollars on medicines and skilled physicians, in the vain hope of obtaining relief, but he has grown worse as the months pass by.

THIRTY YEARS IN BED.

VILLA Rica, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—Will White, the young man who shot Ben Mann, Saturday evening at Stathacker's store, in "old town," is now behind the bars at the Hewitt Inn, in Carrollton, for want of $350 bond. Mann is at his nephew's W. N. Mann's in a medical condition. He has been ill for his wife, and another, a knee. Dr. Slaughter is attending to him and says the wounds are not necessarily fatal. Mann receives to have the wounds probed, and says he does not intend to die.

PAVING THE FIDDLER."

A Spot Between Country Boys and a Town Dude.

CLARKENVILLE, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—Much excitement has been created hereabouts by a recent publication in the Augusta News, over the signature of "A Dancer." The complaint of "A Dancer" is that, in company with three others, he was invited to a dance three miles distant, and in order to be seated at the head of the table, he was compelled to ride his fiddle.

When he reached the spot he had to hustle around for his own grub, and when the dance was over he was invited to contribute toward the payment of the fiddler. He then concluded:

"Should you, by any fatality, ever stray off and get up here, and be compelled not to go home to pay the expense of the dance, as the motto among these riotous Northerners is—"Those who don't pay must stay." I am in the devil's own hell."

This conclusion of the fiddler contains a reply signed by Messrs. W. R. A. Bury, L. C. Purr and W. R. Fuller. They pitch upon John Barnes as "the two-for-a-nickel dude" who wrote the offensive letter. They denounce his statement as "a falsehood of the deepest, darkest, basest character." They admit that the hat was passed around for the fiddler, as is usual on such occasions, but deny that they were under obligations to fiddle, and that Barnes went about with board and lodgings.

To say the least, they say, "we think it comes with very 'poor grace' from a creature who has unpaid bills with our hotels and livery stable to advise people to stay away from our town and would undoubtedly seal our destiny as a summer resort, but for the fact that the advice of little hungry has no more weight with the traveling public than the dust upon the tail feathers of a loose carriage."

Fire Near Hawkinsville.

HAWKINSVILLE, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—A big fire took place near Hawkinsville, at Mobley's crossing, on the Macon and Brunswick railroad this morning, between one and two o'clock. The lumber and planing mills of Mr. A. M. Knight were discovered to be on fire. In a very short time the entire establishment was completely involved. The loss is about five thousand dollars. No insurance. There is no damage to the origin of the fire. Every part of the concern was carefully looked after before leaving it for the night. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. This loss comes heavy on Mr. Knight, who is a hard working, industrious and worthy man.

STRIKE IN PRINCETON FACTORY.

ATHENS, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—Owing to some disagreement with the boss of the weaving room, the hands of Princeton factory walked out this morning, and the mill shut down to-day. About 100 hands are out of employment. The majority of the weavers withdrew with complaints, but the other department took up the trouble. This was accepted, and the factory will probably start up tomorrow. This was not a Knight of Labor trouble, but a personal matter. Dean is a very energetic man, but has made himself very unpopular.

An Artesian Well Stops Flowing.

ALBION, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—The mill strike here is a matter of great concern to the business men. They feel that the mill presidents have not made a sufficient effort to settle the difference which exists between the hands and the management.

As for ourselves, we have no desire to meddle in other people's affairs or to give advice when it is not asked. But this lock-out is not a private question.

I was attracted by curiosity, and accompanied a well known detective about town, who went up to his boarding house to investigate his surroundings and see if he needed any protection.

"Do you seem to need protection?"

"She said she would certainly need protection if bothered any more."

"Who is troubling her?"

"She said it seemed that all the dissipated men in town were after her, as she did not feel safe eating and said she would step to see her son, Dr. C. V. Neal, a distance of about one hundred yards. She was in the kitchen of the house, when the boy came in and said he had heard a noise in the yard.

When one imagines a person clamped in an iron vice for thirty years, he then has some faint idea of the horrible sufferings of Mr. Hilliard.

The above picture is not an overdone one, as hundreds of citizens here will testify, but it is a rather feeble description of the condition of this unfortunate man.

THE 23d DISTRICT.

Taylor County is Granted the Right of Naming the Senator.

KNOXVILLE, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—Crawford county's nomination for county officers, representative and senator of the 23d district, took place quietly. The executive committee met and consolidated the vote and declared the following as nominees. For senator, Jack McCants; for representative, J. N. Smith, clerk court; H. M. Barnett; sheriff, Burnett Hart; tax collector, Thomas McElroy; postmaster, W. H. Donn; recorder, T. O. Vincent; and coroner, J. A. T. Vinson.

Mr. James H. Lewis, a young man of 24, who studied law under Colonel Charlton, of Savannah, has been elected to the senate of Washington territory.

Ex-Senator James E. Brown has taken charge of the Newman Advertiser. Under control of Mr. Brown the paper will be vastly improved, and will be a welcome visitor to thousands of homes.

Mr. Garrett H. Spinks, the hotel keeper at Dallas, died suddenly this morning, about six o'clock. He was about sixty-five or seventy years of age and was the father of the representative of Paulding county.

General P. M. B. Young, consul general to Russia, will return to this country about the 15th of September on a ninety days' leave of absence. He will be in Georgia about the 1st of October to shake with his legion of friends.

Lola, a daughter of Mr. William Lovett, of Burke county, while hunting her nests in an old outhouse, was bitten on the foot by a rattlesnake. The snake had twelve rattles, and was 41 feet long. Her lips and tongue and throat were fearfully swollen, so much so that she could not articulate. Feam issued from her mouth and nostrils. Her mother gave her a dose of turpentine and then sent for a physician. The manager of the election had here a snake bite and was not well, but he was improving rapidly.

Young mulatto woman, who answered to the name of Mary Smith, was in the mayor's court in Savannah, charged with disorderly conduct on the street. Friday night she was on all sides to it. The primary for senator and representative took place today. It is conceded on all sides that Blance received a small majority for the senate and Dr. Russell a much larger majority for the house.

Nominated by Acclamation.

BAXLEY, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—Appling held a convention today for the purpose of nominating a democratic candidate for the legislature. After balloting twelve times without nominating, Hon. M. Branch was nominated by acclamation.

The Primary in DeKalb.

CEDARTOWN, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—The primary for senator and representative took place today. It is conceded on all sides that Blance received a small majority for the senate and Dr. Russell a much larger majority for the house.

The Primary in Fulton.

CEDARTOWN, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—The primary for senator and representative took place today. It is conceded on all sides that Blance received a small majority for the senate and Dr. Russell a much larger majority for the house.

The Primary in Gwinnett.

GREENSBORO, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—The senatorial candidates, W. P. McWhorter and J. M. Lewis, met here today in debate.

LET US stand pat on our 2,700 feet of granite under-pinning!

For three minutes last night prohibitionists and anti-prohibitionists pooled their issues.

The Earthquake Last Night.

A low rumble, as of distant thunder, and Atlanta trembled to her very foundations!

The earthquake, the king of terrors, who has in his time swept a quarter of a million people to instant death, blanched millions of cheeks last night.

In the local and telegraph columns this morning we present a full account of the shock which extended pretty nearly over the entire country.

Nobody was thinking of such a thing as an earthquake in Atlanta, but after the first few quakes the situation was realized and the alarm was great. Many people sat up late, expecting a repetition of the shock, and a general feeling of uneasiness prevailed all night.

The earthquake fills an important page in history. In 526 it visited Syria and destroyed 250,000 people.

In 1755 a great earthquake occurred in Portugal, destroying a portion of the city of Lisbon. The usual rumbling sound was followed by a shock that threw down the principal part of the city. The sea retired, leaving the bar dry, and in minute swells beat back with a mighty wave fifty feet high. Sixty thousand people lost their lives in five minutes. A part of the city was permanently engulfed under 600 feet of water.

In 1783 a great earthquake in Calabria caused the death of 100,000 persons. The most noted earthquake of this century occurred in 1857 in the kingdom of Naples. It was very violent and fatal.

Atlanta may well consider herself blessed in that there is no fatal work of the earthquake to be recorded this morning. We were well shaken up, but we were worse scared than hurt. We have escaped cyclones, so far, but we have had our earthquake. Let us not be proud. Atlanta is a city set upon a hill—built upon a rock thousands of feet in thickness. So far as foundation goes she is solid, but pride goeth before destruction and a haughty spirit before a fall.

Scorched and Storm Swept.

It is difficult to estimate the ravages of the storm and drought in Texas.

The gulf cyclone did not destroy the cotton crop, as was at first reported, but what is left will, of course, be of inferior quality. Outside of the drought-stricken districts, the cotton yield will be about the same as that of last year. The corn crop will be about one-third of what it was last year.

The great drought region lies west of the Austin, Waco, and Fort Worth line, and north of the line of railroad from Austin via San Antonio to the Rio Grande. In the Panhandle counties and the intervening counties down to and including Tom Green county, and the other great western grazing counties, Crockett, Reeves, Pecos, Presidio and El Paso, there was, until quite recently great suffering and loss of cattle for want of rain. The area of drought embraces more than half of the state.

Appeals for aid are made from the counties of Childress, Cottle, Hardeman, Wilbarger, Wichita, Montague, Wise, Jack, Archer, Baylor, Throckmorton, Jones, Haskell, Shackelford, Stephens, Palo Pinto, Parker, Hood, Somervill, Bosque, Erath, Eastland, Callahan, Taylor, Runnels, Coleman, Brown, Comanche, Coryell, Hamilton, Lampasas, San Saba, McCulloch, Concho, Menard, Mason, Llano, Burnet, Blanco, Gillespie, Kimball, Bandera, Edwards, Kerr and Kendall. A traveller through this region gives the following graphic description of what he saw:

"When about fifteen miles from Burnett I met several families on the road with all their worldly possessions, the little they were, loaded in wagons, moving eastward. They said their crops were all overripe, and had been cut and literally mowed up by the long drought; that they did not lose one bushel of corn per acre, while the cotton did not average half a bushel to ten acres; that small grain did not yield at all, and to avoid starvation they were making their way to Llano county, where they had relatives and friends to take care of them. In Llano the wells were all going dry in the town, and there was not water enough in the creek or Oxford. I was compelled to drive two miles to my house in Belton. Sandy river was perfectly dry. The people of Fredericksburg, with few exceptions, are impotent. On the route pastures are entirely dried up and cattle have been driven away for water. Numerous cotton fields will not produce one bale to five acres. Water tanks, where there are any, have to be guarded. There is no water or grass from Menardville to Llano, in fact, and I have heard that I saw about seven dead cattle which died of thirst and starvation. Between Concho and Menardville it is barren, no rain having fallen in eighteen months. Grass has entirely disappeared, and the prairies are as dusty as a traveled road. About Ballinger, in Runnels county, the country is in a deplorable condition. I met rain at Coleman City, but it comes too late to do much good. There has been much said in the newspapers concerning the destitution of the people in Coleman, Menard, Callahan, Taylor and other counties."

and every word of it is true, and half of the suffering has not been told. The corn came up splendid, but it never got higher than twelve inches, when it blotted and died, while nothing at all can be seen in the cotton fields."

One result of all this will be to check the tide of immigration that has been flowing into Texas. In the end this will be beneficial. Texas has grown too rapidly. Between the cyclone and the drought she has been severely scourged, and there will be a general readjustment of population. Certain localities will be virtually abandoned, and other more favored districts will take a new start. Everything will be straightened out in time.

Getting the News.

THE CONSTITUTION has not yet seen the reports of any other paper of the earthquake shocks last night, but nevertheless, feels justified in asking a comparison of its reports with that of any other paper published in the south Atlantic and Gulf states. Its report of the unusual and very sensational event from all parts of the country is full and complete, but never before was the thoroughness of its state news service more advantageously demonstrated than last night.

The shocks were felt about 9 o'clock, after the telegraph offices in the smaller towns of the state had closed. In less than half an hour THE CONSTITUTION had heard from every part of the state, its active corps of correspondents being at their posts, in many instances awaked from sleep, and having to find their telegraph operator to send their message.

Above all things a newspaper's first duty is to give the fullest news of its own territory. THE CONSTITUTION prides itself on the promptness, thoroughness and reliability of its state service.

Incidentally we suggest a comparison of our report this morning with that of other state dailies, and it will be found that THE CONSTITUTION presents, by all odds, the most complete story in the south, and a larger special service than all other Georgia papers combined.

Lock Him Up.

At a recent meeting in Boston Mr. John A. Henry, of Chicago, said:

I have come to Boston to sow the seeds of anarchy and I shall not stop at my accord until I see anarchy firmly rooted in this city. If my mouth is shut, others will come after me and complete the work I have begun. I expect to die some time and I should not be surprised if I died with my boots on.

This sentiment was applauded, and the speaker proceeded to say:

An anonymous correspondent in "Law Guard" writes:

Henry is a scoundrel, a scoundrel, a scoundrel.

THE EARTH'S QUAKE.

[Continue From First Page.]

cyclone was raging. Everybody was badly frightened.

IN WAYNESBORO.

WAYNESBORO, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—Waynesboro was visited tonight at nine o'clock by a considerable earthquake. The people were scared as never before by any such occurrence. Three shocks were felt, the first worst of all. The negroes were running through the streets singing and praying. At this time every person in town is on the streets. None of them can be coaxed into retiring for the night.

IN SANDERSVILLE.

SANDERSVILLE, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—There is immence excitement here tonight over a severe earthquake shock, which occurred about nine o'clock, lasting two or three minutes. Strong constructed houses shook with great force, as if they would slide off their pillars. The congregation of the Baptist church was panic-stricken, rushing frantically out. Everybody is in a state of high excitement.

TENNILLE'S TERROR.

TENNILLE, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—At 8:30 p.m. a heavy shock was felt here, continuing five minutes. The whole earth moved perceptibly. Every building rocked like a cradle. Everybody was greatly alarmed. A second shock occurred at 9 p.m. Very light.

IN ELLIJAY.

ELLIJAY, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—The earth shook terribly at 9 o'clock. The people were alarmed for their lives, and rushed from their houses. Considerable excitement prevailed among the people.

IN BAINBRIDGE.

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—The earth shook in a most unaccountable manner at five minutes to nine. Several ladies fainted with fright, and general consternation ensued.

IN CANTON.

CANTON, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—There was great excitement caused by the earthquake tonight. Some people were fearful of dire calamity, and went to pray vigorously.

IN EATONTON.

EATONTON, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—All talk about the recent Phenix jubilee was eclipsed tonight by the earthquake. The people took it philosophically, however, and said that "all well ends well."

IN TOCCOA.

TOCCOA, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—A heavy shock of earthquake was felt here at 9:15 lasting about two minutes, followed by two light ones.

IN BAXTER.

BAXTER, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—A shock from an earthquake was sensibly felt here at 9 p.m. tonight, which lasted about one minute. It caused considerable excitement and no damage resulted.

IN UNION POINT.

UNION POINT, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—Three more shocks of earthquake were felt here at nine tonight, the first lasting more than one minute. The other was not quite so long.

IN NEWCROSS.

NEWCROSS, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—Four distinct shocks of earthquake were generally noticed and created considerable alarm.

IN HOMERVILLE.

HOMERVILLE, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—The earthquake reached this place at 9 o'clock. It was impressive as well as sensational.

THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY.

West Point, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—Precisely at nine o'clock a decided shock was felt here. The houses were shaken as by the moving of ponderous bodies. Glasses rattled, pictures moved, and many evidences were given of a well regulated earthquake. The citizens are greatly excited over the matter. The shock lasted a minute.

IN CARTERSVILLE.

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—This city was shaken by an earthquake at nine o'clock tonight. The shock lasted for about a minute, and was felt in all parts of the town. No damage was done, so far as can be learned, but many were very much frightened. Houses were shaken as if they were being lifted from the ground.

IN CARROLLTON.

CARROLLTON, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—A heavy earthquake was felt here tonight. Houses rocked, brick buildings were shaken from foundation to roof. The windows were demolished. Two distinct shocks were felt. The streets were filled with excited people.

IN FORESTY.

FORESTY, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—At 9 o'clock tonight one of the greatest earthquakes ever known here was felt, lasting fully two minutes. The people rushed frantically from their houses. The plastering fell from the ceiling, houses rocked, bricks were thrown from chimneys, and everything was thrown in confusion. In a few minutes a second shock was felt, then a third, but not quite so severe as the first. Considerable plastering fell from the ceiling in the telegraph office.

IN BIRMINGHAM.

ROME, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—A distinct shock of earthquake occurred here to-night. Windows rattled, walls shook, and people became very much alarmed. Ladies ran into the street, and some carried children in their arms. The clock in the telegraph office was stopped at exactly five minutes of nine. No damage as yet reported. It was a novel and rather alarming experience for Rome.

IN CHATUCEY.

CHATUCEY, August 31.—[Special.]—A violent earthquake shock was felt here at 8:55 tonight. The people ran out of their houses, fearing that they would fall down. The vibrations were thought to extend from the northeast to the southwest.

IN BRUNSWICK.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—Violent shocks of earthquake have been experienced here tonight at 8:55, lasting nearly five minutes, causing great consternation in the town, especially at the Methodist church, where a revival was being carried on. No damage so far as heard from.

IN ATHENS.

ATHENS, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—Even Larry Gantz felt like running under cover when the earth tossed him around. The shocks began at five minutes to nine and were repeated at intervals for several minutes.

IN FAIRBURN.

FAIRBURN, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—An earthquake was felt here at nine o'clock to-night, lasting about two minutes. Houses and windows rattled, as if a terrible cyclone was raging. Everybody was badly frightened.

IN WAYNESBORO.

WAYNESBORO, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]—Waynesboro was visited tonight at nine o'clock by a considerable earthquake. The people were scared as never before by any such occurrence. ## THE CONSTITUTION.

THROUGH THE CITY.

FEW PARAGRAPHS CAUGHT ON THE FLY BY THE CONSTITUTION REPORTERS.

SICK IMPROVING.—Gluck, the man who was cut by Smith last Sunday, is improving.

IF IT DON'T RAIN.—The Young Ladies' Aid of the First Baptist church, will give a great festival in the lecture room of the church Friday night.

SOCIAL REUNION AT TRINITY.—After a short service of prayer and song, there will be a social reunion of all the members of Trinity church this evening, at half past seven o'clock. All the members requested to be present.

COUPONS.—Yesterday the secretaries of the executive department were engaged in counting the coupons of the state bonds which were paid in July. The count was paid by the Fourth National bank of New York and are then sent to the state treasurer, who counts them to see that they are correct. They are then counted again in the executive department.

THE COUNTY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.—There will be a meeting of the democratic executive committee of Fulton county at the courthouse tomorrow at 12 o'clock, to arrange the necessary temperance addresses at as many points, and I started the camping meet at Warrington, which we finished up together. We had

NOT TIMES IN MISSOURI.—South Forsyth street was over the prohibition question. The proposition there is to submit an amendment to the constitution in the interest of prohibition. The democratic press and politicians are generally fighting it, and they naturally took ofen of Sam Jones in particular, and at both of us in general, for our prohibition sentiments. They jumped upon Jones in the newspapers savagely, but soon found what to do with it. It fairly wiped the earth up with them, so they were soon glad enough to turn loose.

WHAT DID THEY SAY?—John Odom, the Georgia railroad watchman, who was so severely maimed early day before yesterday morning by a thief he was trying to trap in a box car, was much better, yesterday. Mr. Odom rested well all night before last and suffered very little pain yesterday. His wounds are very sore, however, and causes him considerable inconvenience in moving about. Dr. Martin new thinks that the arm, which was cut, will be permanently disabled.

THE HORSE RAN AWAY.—The horse pulling street hack 401 ran away yesterday afternoon in Pryor street, near Peters. The horse frightened at a bicycle and became unmanageable. The driver held tight to the reins, but the horse pulled him off his seat. When near Dr. Talaroff the horse collided with a wagon loaded with lumber, and the horse was considerably broken up. The driver was thrown to the ground with considerable violence and sustained a dislocation of his shoulder.

GORED BY A COW.—Mattice Jones, the five year old child of Dr. C. H. Jones, who lives on Belmont street, was quite seriously injured yesterday afternoon by being gored by a cow. The child was crossing the street near home when a cow, which had been grazing on the sidewalk, sprang at her and knocked her down. The child's father was sitting on the porch, and seeing the attack upon his child, ran into the street and snatched her from under the cow's feet. When he did so, it was ascertained that the cow's horn had made an ugly wound in her back. The flesh was badly torn open for three or four inches. The wounds are not thought to be serious.

MUSICAL ASSOCIATION.

THE OUTLOOK AS VIEWED BY PROFESSOR S. F. SAITER.

A representative of THE CONSTITUTION yesterday called upon Professor S. F. Saiter to ascertain the outlook for the musical association this fall.

"I am glad to see you," said the genial gentleman, "and all information is needed to the musical association I can give you are welcome. The board of directors are now making plans for the season, and all indications point to the fact that Atlanta will have more and better music this next winter than she has ever had before."

"Then the association has not entirely lost its existence?"

"No, sir, decidedly not. The active members have always manifested the liveliest interest in the association, and are now eager to resume rehearsals, and a number of new members are waiting to join."

"Has the association suffered much from opposition?"

"It has certainly lacked the support of a certain portion of the musical people, and I am aware that there has been some opposition; but so far as I know, this has only had the effect of strengthening the determination of the members to carry it on to complete success."

"Would you object to stating what, in your opinion, are the grounds of opposition to the association?"

"No, I can't say that I have any decided objections, but still I do not imagine that any special good will come from public discussion of the matter. It is said that the association is derived through one of its promoters, officials with a musical or piano house, and that excites the animosity of the oldest piano dealers or at least causes them to withhold their support."

"It is a fact that our secretary is a salesman of the Estey Organ company, but that fact does not identify the association with the Estey Organ company any more than it would be identified with a life insurance company, a clerk and his local manager here was the secretary. Is it the common sense to think this association is intended as the fifth wheel of an organ company, or run in the interests of any one man or set of men. I have yet to see any indication of such intention and whenever I do I shall consider the interests of music secondary and withdraw."

"What about their refusing to join in the Cincinnati exposition parade if you and Sam Jones were to be in it?"

"They said that they threatened, but they might have been their threat, they may represent who we are. It is hardly probable that either Sam Jones or myself would be found at the head of a procession in which a dozen distilleries and thirty-three breweries are represented with all their tinsel and trapings. We love the people of Cincinnati and are the staunch friends of their great and progressive enterprises, but we are the uncompromising foes of all her whisky and beer interests and supporters."

THE CARTERSVILLE MEETING.

"What are you and Mr. Jones going to do next?"

"We begin the annual September meeting at Cartersville on Friday morning and continue it for ten days. The liberality of Brother Jones and his fellow citizens has resulted in the erection of a large and permanent tabernacle. It is 120 by 400 feet, in dimensions, admirably adapted for the purpose, will be fully seated and lighted, and will hold comfortably four thousand to five thousand people."

"How many services will be held every day?"

"There will be four services, viz: At sunrise, at 10:30 a.m., at 2:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Rev. Sam Jones will control the meetings and preach at times, and will be aided by a number of visiting ministers. I will give such aid as may be required."

"The singing will be under the charge of Professor W. J. Maxwell, of Cincinnati, who is our regular chorister. He is a master in his line, and can get more music out of a crowd than any conductor I have ever seen in a meeting."

We will use "The Great Awakening," which is the song book specially compiled by Professor Maxwell for our meetings.

Professor E. L. Frost, of Chicago, is our soloist and will sing. He is a grand singer and considered by many judges the superior of Dr. Bankey. I am sure all who hear him will be more than delighted."

"How about accommodations?"

"There will be ample provision for the entertainment of the crowds who may attend, and the Western and Atlantic railroad officials have made liberal rates for all who desire to go."

"This ought to be one of the grandest reunions gathered ever seen in Georgia and probably no doubt."

"At the point the earthquake arrived and interrupted the further progress of the interview they have ever had here before."

DO NOT GO TO THE COUNTRY WITHOUT A BOTTLE OF ANGOSTURA BITTERS TO FLAVOR YOUR SOUP AND LEMONADE, AND KEEP PRODIGIOUSLY ORGANIC ORDER. Be sure it is the genuine ANGOSTURA of world-wide fame, and manufactured by DR. J. G. B. SIEGMUND & SONS.

REV. SAM SMALL.

HIS RETURN TO ATLANTA AFTER AN EXTENDED TOUR.

He Discusses the Prohibition Question in Missouri. The Warrensburg Campmeeting a Great Religious Success—He Tell About the Trouble With the Germans in Ohio.

Rev. Sam Small returned to the city yesterday afternoon from an evangelistic tour with Rev. Sam Jones, covering some six weeks at points in the west, north and east. He was busy at his desk in the library of his new and cosy home on Capitol avenue last evening when he cordially consented to an interview. Mr. Small suffers somewhat bronchically from his long tour and out-door preaching, but otherwise is in good health and spirit, maintaining his "fighting weight" to the ounce.

"Where are you from now?" Brother Jones and myself just returned from Round Lake Camp meeting, near Saratoga Springs, N. Y. We had a great meeting there for five days and met as grand a class of people as we have found anywhere in America. The audiences were large, enthusiastic and pretty solidly religious."

"Where were you before going to Round Lake?" We began this last series of meetings in Missouri. Brother Jones had engagements to speak at the convention to nominate senator for this district. The convention will be held in Atlanta on the 11th of September, Fulton county will have six votes, Cobb four and Clayton two.

WE GOT A NEW BUILDING.—South Forsyth street was the scene of two runaway experiences yesterday. An empty light wagon drew by a fine large horse. It sped up the street like lightning but was not injured and did not break the harness or wagon. The other was Cassius like, dun horse attached to a farm cart. A feed bag of oats dropped wildly about his head, and kitchen furniture rolled out of the car as he was headed up (Castlberry street by excited citizens).

HE IS PROBABLY DISAPPOINTED.—John Odom, the Georgia railroad watchman, who was so severely maimed early day before yesterday morning by a thief he was trying to trap in a box car, was much better, yesterday. Mr. Odom rested well all night before last and suffered very little pain yesterday. His wounds are very sore, however, and causes him considerable inconvenience in moving about. Dr. Martin now thinks that the arm, which was cut, will be permanently disabled.

THE HORSE RAN AWAY.—The horse pulling street hack 401 ran away yesterday afternoon in Pryor street, near Peters. The horse frightened at a bicycle and became unmanageable. The driver held tight to the reins, but the horse pulled him off his seat.

WHEN WILL WE GET A NEW BUILDING?—The horse running away in Pryor street, became unmanageable. The driver held tight to the reins, but the horse pulled him off his seat.

OHIO CRANKS ON THEIR EARS.—Then you went to Ohio and had a pretty lively time from the newspaper accounts?"

"Yes, it was interesting, for awhile. The Loveland meeting passed off very quietly, but at Lancaster and Urbana, there was music in the air for several days, and the cranks, as usual, were making a hullabaloo.

"I am sorry to say that the Ohioans have a miserable misgiving, however, concerning the liquor law in Ohio, to which the republican party is committed. It was concocted by the aid of the liquor and beer interests as a stopgap to the prohibitionists, but has failed to do its perfect work. When Sam Jones and myself pitched into the beer, bloated, rotten craps, and cusses, it came with all the vigor that could command. We stirred up a first class riot all around us, and many of the Methodist republican preachers were the staunch defenders of the Dow law and, of course, got both their hair and hides tangled up with our cranks and saw attacks upon their pet scheme.

"The politicians blustered and cursed around at a great rate, but nobody regarded them. Then the whole kennel of country editors turned loose their ink legs and lyre pots upon us, but we soon had their imitation lion skins stretched over poles, and left the little asses braying in the middle of the big road and all the people laughing at them. The entertainment was highly and ludicrous while it lasted, I assure you."

THE DUTCH HURRAH.

"How did you both come to offend the Germans so deeply?"

"I guess it must have been because we made a few remarks that could be construed as derogatory to beer. Brother Jones quoted some one to the effect that 'beer is good for the German stomach, but nearly always fatal to the human stomach,' and I once said, 'These American people are not yet ready to turn their country over to the devil, the Pope and the Pope's angels.' These remarks seem to have hurt the feelings of some of the Germans; but the real trouble was due to our open and caustic denunciation of the Ohio German leagues for warfare against all forms of liquor legislation and all laws enforcing respect for the Sabbath day. We denounced these German innovations as treacherous, hellish and full of soundrelism of anarchy, and warned the people not to tolerate any such unlawful and disloyal anti-American combination. This was the Dutch hurrah against us but the sentiments were everywhere applauded to the echo by the native Americans. That fact shows us plainly enough which way the wind is blowing in this country."

"What about their refusing to join in the Cincinnati exposition parade if you and Sam Jones were to be in it?"

"They said that they threatened, but they might have been their threat, they may represent who we are. It is hardly probable that either Sam Jones or myself would be found at the head of a procession in which a dozen distilleries and thirty-three breweries are represented with all their tinsel and trapings. We love the people of Cincinnati and are the staunch friends of their great and progressive enterprises, but we are the uncompromising foes of all her whisky and beer interests and supporters."

THE PIEDMONT AIR-LINE.—The Piedmont Air Line railway having advertised a very low price for round trip tickets between Cartersville and Atlanta, I desire to implement that liberal offer with a proposition to entertain all who come from Georgia to this place at $3 per week. This applies to those who purchase the tickets above mentioned. Yours truly,

NEW ERA BEER

Brewed from malt and hops. It is the best substitute for alcoholic drinks ever invented, and at the same time it has all the nutritions and tonic properties. It is for nervous and debilitated persons for the strength giving qualities of the malt, and for nursing mothers who wish to increase the milk supply.

From numerous chemical analysis it has been found free from alcohol.

He Was Sent to Jail.

Bob Love, the small negro boy who was stabbed

Jim Wright in the back twice Saturday night, was arraigned in police court yesterday morning.

Wright was present a witness, and his stepson in his neighborhood in manner, showed that the assault upon him had been made without any provocation. Judge Amerson dismissed the city case against Love, but required a bond to the city court in the sum of one hundred dollars, for stabbing. Love was unable to make the bond and was sent to jail.

He Has Been Taken Back.

Cranton, the Opelika incendiary, who was arrested night before last by Captain Manley, was taken back to the scene of his misdeeds yesterday by the Opelika chief of police.

The new hotel at Monroe is completed, and

Colonel W. J. Ray, of that place, who is in the city, says it is one of the finest in the state.

A NEW FIRM.

Established on Alabama Street, to do a Wholesale Business in Grain, Hay and Cotton.

Mr. A. P. Morgan, who for several years has been connected with the firm of Frazer & Morgan, has associated in business with Mr. Morgan & Mathews. Mr. Morgan is among the best of Atlanta's business men and stands high in business circles. He has been in the grain and hay business, and in his new quarters he will doubt meet with great success. Mr. Mathews, the junior partner, was also with Frazer and Morgan, and is an excellent business man. Messrs. Morgan & Mathews will throw open their doors September 2, and that they will receive their share of patronage there is no doubt.

HORSEFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE.

In General Debility.

Dr. E. W. Hill, Glens Falls, N. Y., says: "I have used it in cases of nervous and general debility, and always with success. I consider it an excellent remedy for atonic dyspepsia, or any low state of the system."

There are many forms of nervous debility in men, that yield to the use of Carter's Iron Pills. Those who are troubled with nervous weakness, night sweats, &c., should try them.

Dyspepsia in its worst forms will yield to the use of Carter's Little Nerve Pills added to Carter's Little Liver Pills. They not only relieve present distress but strengthen the stomach and digestive apparatus.

Bandske is almost immediately relieved by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weeds and Bandske Backache Plasters. Try one and be free from pain. Price 25 cents.

Cure of a Sprain.

February 28, 1885.

Some years ago I badly strained my stomach picking cherries, and have suffered greatly ever since. Nothing has been so beneficial as Allcock's Plasters. They entirely cured me of that trouble. I have also been afflicted with a lame ankle, but these Plasters soon enabled me to walk. I recommend them whenever I have an opportunity as I have found them very useful for over ten years. Allcock's Plasters have always done me the greatest service, and I am every day more and more convinced that no household should be without them.

Mrs. SUSIE A. BILLS.

PROFESSOR J. C. LEHARDY, M. D., President State Medical Society of Georgia, Member Athenaeum of Atlanta, etc., etc., says: "The results obtained by me with Liebig's Co's Coca Beer Tonic in my practice are indeed startling." Invaluable in paralysis, dyspepsia, debility, catarrh, and biliousness.

Do not go to the country without a bottle of ANGOSTURA BITTERS to flavor your Soda and Lemonade, and keep your digestive organs in order. Be sure it is the genuine ANGOSTURA of world-wide fame, and manufactured only by Dr. J. G. B. SIEGERT & SONS.

STATE OF GEORGIA, Executive Department.

PROCLAMATION.

Georgia.—By HENRY D. McDANIEL, Governor.

Whereas, The general assembly, at its last session passed the following acts, to wit:

Act 62, to amend the constitution of the state of Georgia, by striking therefrom paragraph 7, article 8.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Georgia, and is hereby enacted into law, that the constitution of this state be amended, by striking therefore paragraph 7, article 8, to wit: "Parliamentary privilege. All special or local bills shall originate in the house of representatives. The speaker of the house of representatives shall be president of the house, and shall be entitled to a seat and a vote in the house of representatives, and to a seat and a vote in the general assembly, to act as chairman of a committee, consisting of one from each congressional district, whose duty it shall be to consider bills introduced in either house, and to report the same to the house, and no special or local bill shall be read a second time until the same has been reported by the speaker of the house of representatives, and no special or local bill shall be considered or reported to the house by said committee, unless the same have been laid before it within fifteen days from the time of the introduction of the bill in the general assembly." Sec. II. Be it further enacted, That whenever the proposed amendment shall be submitted to each two-thirds of the two houses of the general assembly, the governor shall, and is hereby authorized to cause to be published in the second section of this act, in the several election districts in this state, with election papers, that the same shall be entitled to a vote in the general assembly, to act as chairman of a committee, consisting of one from each congressional district, whose duty it shall be to consider bills introduced in either house, and to report the same to the house, and no special or local bill shall be read a second time until the same has been reported by the speaker of the house of representatives, and no special or local bill shall be considered or reported to the house by said committee, unless the same have been laid before it within fifteen days from the time of the introduction of the bill in the general assembly.

Sec. III. Be it further enacted, That whenever the proposed amendment shall be submitted to each two-thirds of the two houses of the general assembly, the governor shall, and is hereby authorized to cause to be published in the second section of this act, in the several election districts in this state, with election papers, that the same shall be entitled to a vote in the general assembly, to act as chairman of a committee, consisting of one from each congressional district, whose duty it shall be to consider bills introduced in either house, and to report the same to the house, and no special or local bill shall be read a second time until the same has been reported by the speaker of the house of representatives, and no special or local bill shall be considered or reported to the house by said committee, unless the same have been laid before it within fifteen days from the time of the introduction of the bill in the general assembly.

Sec. IV. Be it further enacted, That whenever the proposed amendment shall be submitted to each two-thirds of the two houses of the general assembly, the governor shall, and is hereby authorized to cause to be published in the second section of this act, in the several election districts in this state, with election papers, that the same shall be entitled to a vote in the general assembly, to act as chairman of a committee, consisting of one from each congressional district, whose duty it shall be to consider bills introduced in either house, and to report the same to the house, and no special or local bill shall be read a second time until the same has been reported by the speaker of the house of representatives, and no special or local bill shall be considered or reported to the house by said committee, unless the same have been laid before it within fifteen days from the time of the introduction of the bill in the general assembly.

Sec. V. Be it further enacted, That whenever the proposed amendment shall be submitted to each two-thirds of the two houses of the general assembly, the governor shall, and is hereby authorized to cause to be published in the second section of this act, in the several election districts in this state, with election papers, that the same shall be entitled to a vote in the general assembly, to act as chairman of a committee, consisting of one from each congressional district, whose duty it shall be to consider bills introduced in either house, and to report the same to the house, and no special or local bill shall be read a second time until the same has been reported by the speaker of the house of representatives, and no special or local bill shall be considered or reported to the house by said committee, unless the same have been laid before it within fifteen days from the time of the introduction of the bill in the general assembly.

Sec. VI. Be it further enacted, That whenever the proposed amendment shall be submitted to each two-thirds of the two houses of the general assembly, the governor shall, and is hereby authorized to cause to be published in the second section of this act, in the several election districts in this state, with election papers, that the same shall be entitled to a vote in the general assembly, to act as chairman of a committee, consisting of one from each congressional district, whose duty it shall be to consider bills introduced in either house, and to report the same to the house, and no special or local bill shall be read a second time until the same has been reported by the speaker of the house of representatives, and no special or local bill shall be considered or reported to the house by said committee, unless the same have been laid before it within fifteen days from the time of the introduction of the bill in the general assembly.

Sec. VII. Be it further enacted, That whenever the proposed amendment shall be submitted to each two-thirds of the two houses of the general assembly, the governor shall, and is hereby authorized to cause to be published in the second section of this act, in the several election districts in this state, with election papers, that the same shall be entitled to a vote in the general assembly, to act as chairman of a committee, consisting of one from each congressional district, whose duty it shall be to consider bills introduced in either house, and to report the same to the house, and no special or local bill shall be read a second time until the same has been reported by the speaker of the house of representatives, and no special or local bill shall be considered or reported to the house by said committee, unless the same have been laid before it within fifteen days from the time of the introduction of the bill in the general assembly.

Sec. VIII. Be it further enacted, That whenever the proposed amendment shall be submitted to each two-thirds of the two houses of the general assembly, the governor shall, and is hereby authorized to cause to be published in the second section of this act, in the several election districts in this state, with election papers, that the same shall be entitled to a vote in the general assembly, to act as chairman of a committee, consisting of one from each congressional district, whose duty it shall be to consider bills introduced in either house, and to report the same to the house, and no special or local bill shall be read a second time until the same has been reported by the speaker of the house of representatives, and no special or local bill shall be considered or reported to the house by said committee, unless the same have been laid before it within fifteen days from the time of the introduction of the bill in the general assembly.

Sec. IX. Be it further enacted, That whenever the proposed amendment shall be submitted to each two-thirds of the two houses of the general assembly, the governor shall, and is hereby authorized to cause to be published in the second section of this act, in the several election districts in this state, with election papers, that the same shall be entitled to a vote in the general assembly, to act as chairman of a committee, consisting of one from each congressional district, whose duty it shall be to consider bills introduced in either house, and to report the same to the house, and no special or local bill shall be read a second time until the same has been reported by the speaker of the house of representatives, and no special or local bill shall be considered or reported to the house by said committee, unless the same have been laid before it within fifteen days from the time of the introduction of the bill in the general assembly.

Sec. X. Be it further enacted, That whenever the proposed amendment shall be submitted to each two-thirds of the two houses of the general assembly, the governor shall, and is hereby authorized to cause to be published in the second section of this act, in the several election districts in this state, with election papers, that the same shall be entitled to a vote in the general assembly, to act as chairman of a committee, consisting of one from each congressional district, whose duty it shall be to consider bills introduced in either house, and to report the same to the house, and no special or local bill shall be read a second time until the same has been reported by the speaker of the house of representatives, and no special or local bill shall be considered or reported to the house by said committee, unless the same have been laid before it within fifteen days from the time of the introduction of the bill in the general assembly.

Sec. XI. $60.00 High Arm Sewing Machine for $22.00

WITH ONE YEAR'S SUBSCRIPTION TO THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTION
—INCLUDED.—

This machine is the first of its kind ever offered the public at factory prices, and cannot now be bought from agents for less than $67—the regular selling price being $60.

It is the High-Arm Patent Has Se-Setting Needle! Cannot be Run Backward! Has American Cylinder driven belt, which prevents it being run backward, thus avoiding all danger of breaking thread or pulling out.

It is a noiseless, light running Machine, accompanied by an illustrated book of Instructions that makes everything plain and simple that a boy or child can master it. We call it

THE CONSTITUTION HIGH-ARM SEWING MACHINE.

And we warrant it to give full and entire satisfaction in every case, or it may be returned to us at our expense and money will be refunded.

CUTTER.—Each machine is supplied with the following outfit: One hammer and feller (one piece), two needles, one screw driver, one oil can filled with oil, cloth gauge and thumbcrew, and a box of directions. The following extra attachments are also furnished free: Ruller, tucker, binder, set of wide hammers and shirring plate.

OUR CLAIMS for Superiority are as follows:

A Device whereby the bobbin can be wound without running the machine saves unnecessary wear of the machine, and the trouble of unthreading and removing work and attachments while the S. bobbin is being filled.

A Scale for Regulating the length of stitch, which enables the operator to readily ascertain the length of stitch without testing previous or commanding work.

A Spring-Tension Cylinder Shuttle holding a bobbin that carries a large amount of thread. There is but hole to thread through, making it the most easily threaded shuttle in use. The tension may be changed without removing the shuttle from machine.

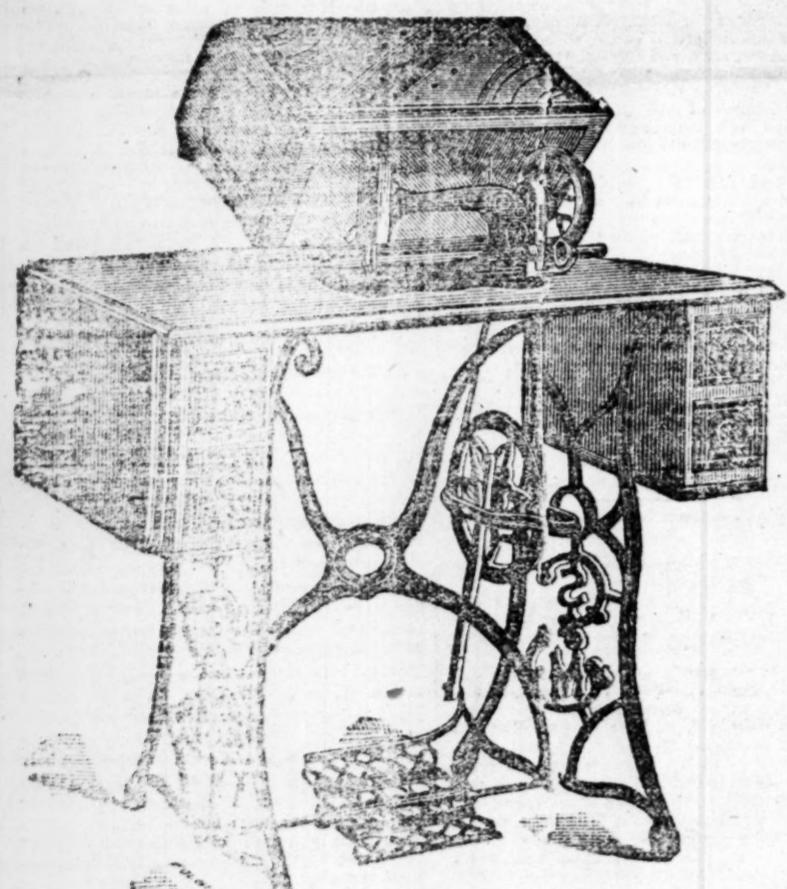

The Double Feed extends on both sides of the needle and permits a greater variety of work than any other. It has great power, and never fails to perform its duty—will feed the lightest and heaviest goods with equal precision, and will cross seams and hard pieces without changing length of stitch or missing stitches.

Light Running.—On account of the simple mechanical devices employed in its construction, runs lighter and with greater speed than any other machine, and is almost noiseless. It is the simplest and easiest to learn to use, and is the most elegantly ornamented machine in the world, combining every requisite to produce perfect work.

Inviting a practical test of this machine, we distinctly claim for it a great superiority in plan, material, workmanship, and in its performance. It is unquestionably the most popular machine now on the market.

An Improvement on the Singer.

The Cheapest and Best Sewing Machine, with The Weekly Constitution 1 Year for Only $18.

Regular Price of the Machine Alone $45 to $50.

Any machine is guaranteed to give satisfaction, or it may be returned and money will be refunded.

The furniture is of the best black walnut. Each machine has a box cover, a drop leaf, table and four chairs; also a full set of the latest approved at schisms and necessary instruments. Each machine is thoroughly tested and fitted with the best quality of machinery, and is guaranteed to be perfect by the inspectors to go out of the shop until it has been fully tested and proven to do perfect work, and run light and with as little noise as possible. The sewing machine we offer is not the Singer, but a machine which is an improvement on the Singer. The "head," or machine part of the sewing machine, is the same as the Singer, but the frame is entirely different. Our machine is made of solid wood, and is much stronger and more durable than the Singer. It is made of the best materials, and is well finished and appears, with the exception of the lettering on the arms and the trade mark.

We give a few reasons why every household should have the sewing machine offered by the Constitution. 1. It is the best adjusted. 2. It has the best material. 3. It has the Finest Finish. 4. It has the prettiest work. 5. Its mechanism is better fitted. 6. It has the best Japanizing. 7. It has the best stand. 8. It has the best Tension. 9. It will wear the longest. 10. It is always reliable.

11. It is the Cheapest.

HERE IS OUR OFFER:

For $18.00 the Weekly Constitution One Year and the Sewing Machine

A five day's trial of the machine is allowed, and each machine is guaranteed by The Constitution Publishing Company to be as represented, and to give perfect satisfaction, or it may be returned, and the money will be refunded.

SPECIAL.—We have sold hundreds and hundreds of these machines, and have guaranteed every machine. We have had ONLY ONE returned.

What Those Say Who Have Tried our Machines.

The following testimonials are authentic. They come from subscribers to The Constitution, who are known and respected in the counties in which they live. We ask you to write to any one of them and they will endorse what is printed below.

CLINTON, A. T., July 16th, 1888.

Editor Constitution.—I received my sewing machine two weeks ago. I delayed writing until now to give it a thorough trial. I have tried it on several kinds of work and find it to be perfect in all, being strong and almost noiseless. There is a Singer Sewing Machine agent called me on today and informed me to take my machine to him. I told him it cost me $60. He said he could sell me the same machine for $50. I would not take $50 for mine and give $65 for his.

P. S.—If you will allow me to make a percentage on these machines, I think I can send you a good price.

Yours respectfully, GEO. E. GAMBLE.

S. T. Whitten, Gorgansville, Ga.—I received the machine which I ordered with the Constitution two months ago, and find it first class in every way. It is much better than I expected to get, don't see how you can sell it so cheap. The people who have seen it are delighted with it: some who have bought of agents say the same thing. I hope they will buy another except yours. We have sold ours on all sorts of work, and the more we sell the better we like it.

Morgan, Rutledge, Ga.—I received my sewing machine and say that after trying it that it gives perfect satisfaction. I did not expect so nice and substantial a machine. We have been using Wheeler & Wilson improved machines, but yours is superior.

J. A. E. Sykes, Rock Road, Ga.—The sewing machine brought from you gives perfect satisfaction.

This is the voice of the people. Rest it and heed it. We might fill columns with it. Hundreds of homes are made happy with Constitution machines, and testify that they are the best.

Order at once. Remember, you have five days trial of the machine, and if it doesn't suit you, we guarantee to refund your money. Address

The Earthquake Last Night.

A low rumble, as of distant thunder, and

The earthquake, the king of terrors, who has in his time swept a quarter of a million people to instant death, blanched millions of cheeks last night.

In the local and telegraph columns this morning we present a full account of the shock which extended pretty nearly over the entire country.

Nobody was thinking of such a thing as an earthquake in Atlanta, but after the first few quakes the situation was realized and the alarm was great. Many people sat up late, expecting a repetition of the shock, and a general feeling of uneasiness prevailed all night.

The earthquake fills an important page in history. In 526 he visited Syria and destroyed 250,000 people.

In 1755 a great earthquake occurred in Portugal, destroying a portion of the city of Lisbon. The usual rumbling sound was followed by a shock that threw down the principal part of the city. The sea retired, leaving the bar dry, and in a minute swept back with a mighty wave fifty feet high. Sixty thousand people lost their lives in five minutes. A part of the city was permanently engulfed under 600 feet of water.

In 1783 a great earthquake in Calabria caused the death of 100,000 persons. The most noted earthquake of this century occurred in 1857 in the kingdom of Naples. It was very violent and fatal.

Atlanta may well consider herself blessed in that there is no fatal work of the earthquake to be recorded this morning. We were well shaken up, but we were worse scared than hurt. We have escaped cyclones, so far, but we have had our earthquake. Let us not be proud. Atlanta is a city set upon a hill—built upon a rock thousands of feet in thickness. So far as foundation goes she is solid, but pride goeth before destruction and a haughty spirit before a fall.

Getting the News.

THE CONSTITUTION has not yet seen the reports of any other paper of the earthquake shocks last night, but nevertheless, feels justified in asking a comparison of its reports with that of any other paper published in the South Atlantic and Gulf states. Its report of the unusual and very sensational event from all parts of the country is full and complete, but never before was the thoroughness of its state news service more advantageously demonstrated than last night. The shocks were felt about 9 o'clock, after the telegraph offices in the smaller towns of the state had closed. In less than half an hour THE CONSTITUTION had heard from every part of the state, its active corps of correspondents being at their posts, in many instances awaked from sleep and having to find their telegraph operator to send their messages.

Above all things a newspaper's first duty is to give the fullest news of its own territory. THE CONSTITUTION prides itself on the promptness, thoroughness and reliability of its state service.

Incidentally we suggest a comparison of our report this morning with that of other state dailies, and it will be found that THE CONSTITUTION presents, by all odds, the most complete story in the south, and a larger special service than all other Georgia papers combined.

A Plucky Jailer.

One reason why Lynchers generally have their way is because the officers of the law allow themselves to be bulldozed. One determined officer, with his wits about him, is a match for any ordinary mob.

The other night a crowd of men at Hernando, Miss., went to the jailer and shouted: "Your keys or your life!" The jailer replied: "Take my life." Of course they let him alone. They did not want his life. They simply wanted to break into the jail. The demoralized crowd battered away for a while with a sledge-hammer on the jail door, and then left in disgust, without effecting their purpose.

In this case one man's fidelity saved the life of a prisoner, saved the community from the disgrace of lynch law, and set a good example for sheriffs and jailers everywhere. Mobs do not care to bother such men.

Gloomy Statistics.

Rush! This one word sums up the typical American.

The slangy phrase, "Get there, Eh," expresses our dominant characteristic.

It cannot be denied that the American gets there, but behind him, every step of the way, stalks the undertaker. For that matter it will be said that the undertaker is a necessary evil. This is true enough, but he shadows us, dogs us as he sees no other civilized people.

Let us look into this matter a little. The Medical and Surgical Reporter's comparative analysis of the mortality statistics of the United States, France, England and Ireland will give us food for thought. The average duration of life in this country is less than twenty years. Fully one half of our people die before they have completed their twentieth year. The heaviest rate is among the children, forty per cent of whom die before the age of five. Out of one hundred Americans only twenty-two pass the age of fifty, and only four out of one hundred reach the age of eighty. Now, it is not so in England. We lose twelve per cent of our population between the ages of five and twenty, while in England the death rate between those ages is only eight per cent. We lose twenty-four per cent of our population between the ages of twenty and fifty. England loses only twenty-one per cent between the ages of twenty and fifty-five. England, therefore, can show proportionately as many persons who reach the age of seventy-five as we can show attaining the age of seventy.

In France forty-eight people out of one hundred reach the age of fifty, as against our twenty-two. Only ten per cent of our people reach three score and ten, while twenty-five per cent of the French survive that limit.

Take Ireland. We lose half our population by the age of twenty. The Irish only part with thirty-five per cent. Almost one-half of their deaths are persons over forty-five.

We have this large death-rate in spite of the fact that we are the best fed, best clothed and best housed people in the world. It may be said also that as a people we have studied the sanitary conditions of existence, What, then, is the matter? Rush, and nothing else. This is why the undertaker treads on our heels. It is a lightning express schedule from the cradle to the coffin. But we cannot slacken our speed. To "get there" is our main object, and it is the undertaker's also.

Are we not all "getting there" a little too early?

Scorched and Storm Swept.

It is difficult to estimate the ravages of the storm and drought in Texas.

The earthquake, the king of terrors, who has in his time swept a quarter of a million people to instant death, blanched millions of cheeks last night.

In the local and telegraph columns this morning we present a full account of the shock which extended pretty nearly over the entire country.

Nobody was thinking of such a thing as an earthquake in Atlanta, but after the first few quakes the situation was realized and the alarm was great. Many people sat up late, expecting a repetition of the shock, and a general feeling of uneasiness prevailed all night.

The great drouth region lies west of the Austin, Waco and Fort Worth line, and north of the line of railroad from Austin via San Antonio to the Rio Grande. In the Panhandle counties and the intervening counties down to and including Tom Green county, and the other great western grazing counties, Crockett, Reeves, Pecos, Presidio and El Paso, there was, until quite recently great suffering and loss of cattle for want of rain. The area of drouth embraces more than half of the state.

Bob Ingols has endeavored to impress people with the idea that he is too honest, merciful and just, and that he loves the human race too well to be a Christian. His glittering generalities have deceived very few. People heard him, applauded and went away pronouncing him an eloquent braggart, frosty, harsh and rotten to the core.

Slowly but surely Ingols has descended to his true level. One after another all the great rascals of the land have engaged him to defend them. Whenever a man betrays a public trust and has the means to pay a big fee his first thought is of Ingols.

What is this man's standard of professional morality? Let him speak for himself: "The lawyer," said he, in a burst of frankness, "is merely a sort of intellectual strumpet. He is prepared to receive big fees and make the best of either side of any case. He is a sort of burglar in the realm of mentality."

"I never want to know much about my clients. I never want to know whether they are guilty or not. I do not even want to know what they can prove. What I want to know is what the other fellow can prove. When I know that I am ready for business."

"When about fifteen miles from Burnett I made several families on the road with all their worldly possessions, the little they were, loaded in wagons, moving out of the country. They said their crops had been dried up, and they turned up by the long road to see what they still had not been cut. They were up to their necks in mud, and a quarter of a mile from town, when the cotton field was about half a mile to the right. The cotton had been raised in the fields, and was perfectly dry. The people of Fredericksburg with few exceptions, are impennious. And the cotton yield will be about the same as that of last year. The cotton crop will be about one-third of what it was last year.

Bob Ingols has endeavored to impress people with the idea that he is too honest, merciful and just, and that he loves the human race too well to be a Christian. His glittering generalities have deceived very few. People heard him, applauded and went away pronouncing him an eloquent braggart, frosty, harsh and rotten to the core.

Slowly but surely Ingols has descended to his true level. One after another all the great rascals of the land have engaged him to defend them. Whenever a man betrays a public trust and has the means to pay a big fee his first thought is of Ingols.

What is this man's standard of professional morality? Let him speak for himself: "The lawyer," said he, in a burst of frankness, "is merely a sort of intellectual strumpet. He is prepared to receive big fees and make the best of either side of any case. He is a sort of burglar in the realm of mentality."

"I never want to know much about my clients. I never want to know whether they are guilty or not. I do not even want to know what they can prove. What I want to know is what the other fellow can prove. When I know that I am ready for business."

Only the other day he called on the governor of New York in the interest of Rollin M. Squire. He commenced by making fun of reform in general and ridiculing the idea of morality in politics. The governor quietly cut him short by saying that he wanted arguments and not jokes.

The great infidel has seen his best days. He fondly hoped that his talents and his pretensions would draw around him a circle of good men whose friendship would add to his prestige. In this he has been disappointed. There is no honorable place in this country for an open and avowed enemy of the Christian religion. Sooner or later he is doomed to be a social outlaw, consorting with other outlaws, and regarded by all as the fit tool for any dirty work that knaves find it necessary to delegate to a humbug. Bob Ingols has reached this stage.

BEDRIDDEN 30 YEARS.

A QUEEN STORY WHICH COMES FROM WILKES COUNTY.

A Strong and Healthy Man Stricken by Rheumatism, From Which He Has Been Confined to Bed for Thirty Years—How He Passes His Time—The Devotion of His Sister Sally.

WASHINGTON, Ga., August 31.—[Special.]

On the Skull Shoals road, seven miles west of this place, is Bethel church. A mile or so beyond the church a dim road intersects the skull Shoals road at right angles. One passing down this dim road a short distance comes in view of a little two-room cabin, nestled beneath two large oaks. Entering the cabin there is a man remarkable for the long suffering that he has endured. For more than thirty years Ben Hilliard has been a prisoner, chained within the narrow confines of his little room by the giant grip of rheumatism.

Thirty-six years ago Ben Hilliard was an industrious farmer, vigorously tilling the soil, and in his leisure hours hunting turkey and squirrel on the bottoms of Nottoway creek, which runs adjacent to his home.

ATTACKED BY RHEUMATISM.

About this time, at the age of twenty-five, he had an attack of rheumatism. For the first three or four years he was able, by help of crutch and stick, to hobble about his farm. Then his malady grew worse, and he was forced to take his room and really his bed. He has spent hundreds of dollars on medicines and skilled physicians, in the vain hope of obtaining relief, but he has grown worse as the months passed by.

THIRTY YEARS IN BED.

For thirty years he has lain, or rather sat in a drawn up position upon his bed. Inch by inch he has lost the use of his limbs until now he can barely move his shoulders and neck with the greatest pain. His limbs are twisted in two or three ways, while his fingers and hands are drawn so that for years he has never seen the palm of his hands. When he has to be turned over or moved in the slightest manner, it is painful to witness his agony. He has a half brother somewhere in Mississippi, but he never hears from him.

Untiring in her devotion, his only sister, "Miss Sally," has nursed and cared for him during his long years of suffering. Kind friends from his neighborhood and from Washington visit him and supply him with the necessities of life. Although racked by pain he is never known to murmur. He expresses his gratitude so feelingly when any one drops in to see him, and is quite entertaining.

He loves to read, which he is enabled to do by having the paper propped up before his eyes in a convenient position.

A READER OF THE PAPERS.

The writer had occasion to pass his house last year and left a copy of the weekly CONSTITUTION with him, and he is now a subscriber to it. He saw THE CONSTITUTION's sewing machine advertised in his paper, and he would not rest until he secured one for his devoted sister, "Miss Sally."

He went upon from bad to worse," continued my companion, "and made herself a most unbearable nuisance. No doubt the sister she drank half the time. I have seen her to speak up a council of war by her way into the general's tent when he was howling drunk. She not only drank herself, but smuggled liquor into camp and made the soldiers drunk. Oh, she was a terror!"

"She was a spy?"

"I don't think she was. I think that loyalty to the confederacy was the one solitary virtue that she possessed. In several skirmishes I saw her pick up a musket and fight like a tigress. No, I don't think she ever played us false."

"And yet she seemed to be especially obnoxious."

"She was, sir; and there was a good reason for it. That woman, sir, we drunk half the time. I have seen her to speak up a council of war by her way into the general's tent when he was howling drunk. She not only drank herself, but smuggled liquor into camp and made the soldiers drunk. Oh, she was a terror!"
